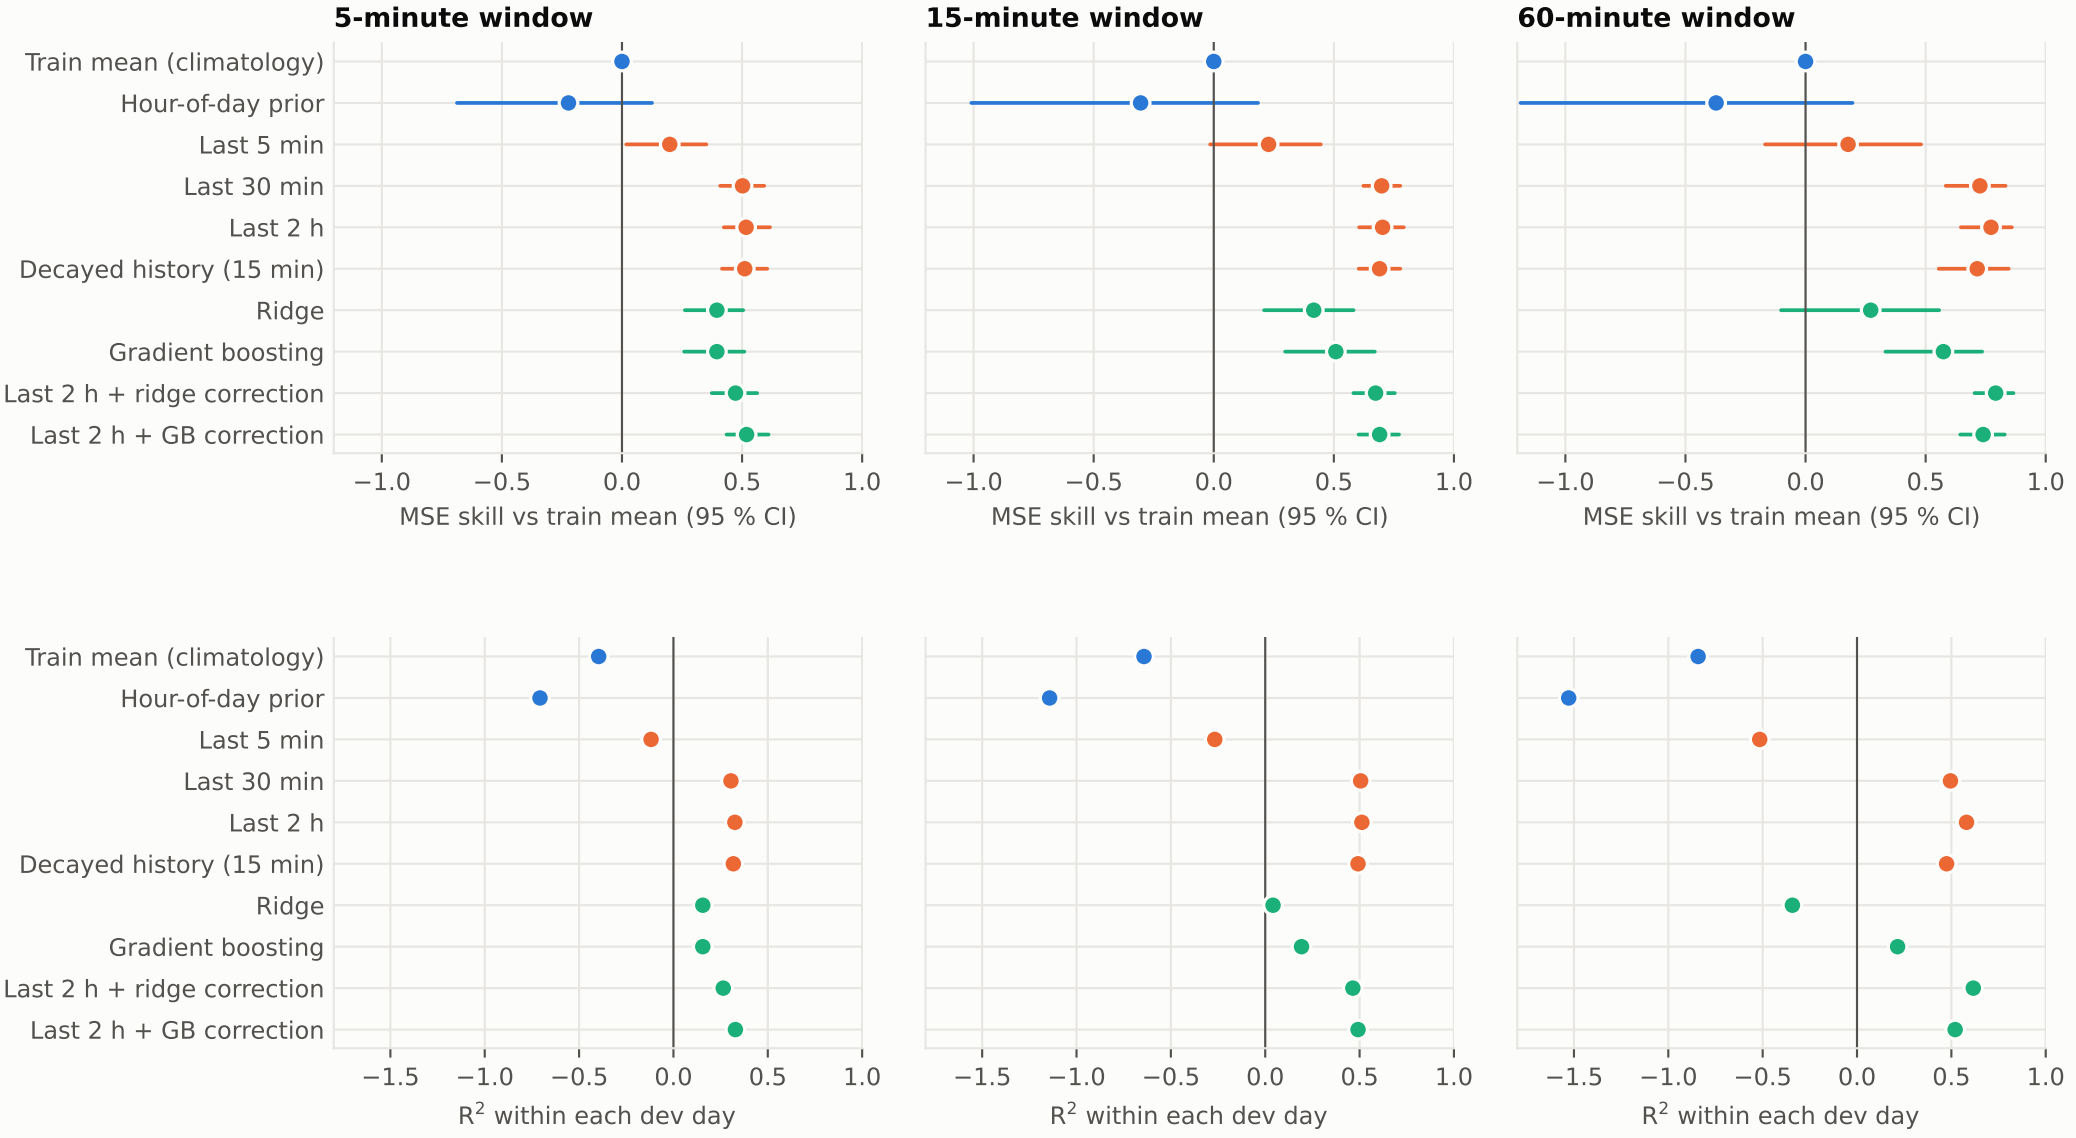
Development region (3 rolling folds): a 2-hour moving average matches the learned models



Top row is inflated by level drift (dev days quieter than training); the bottom row removes the level and shows how little within-day variation any method explains.

Priors · History averages · Learned models